

A hearty thank you to a far more special group of people than I realized

As some of you may know, I am having some health issues.

What has surprised me, is that members whom I have been friendly with, and some I have not, have taken time out of their schedules to visit me. Until this bout of illness, I did not realize the value of such visits on an ill person's moral.

For those of you who have taken your time I can not express how thankful I am.

For the board members, you have my thanks for the early termination of my talk block. You may never know how important this social connection has been for me.

Good to hear you are still around, I have benefited from your contributions to DMS and I hope you can continue to contribute.

I was alarmed when I could not find you on DMS Talk, it was a relief to read your post today.

It is good to read that others share my good opinion of you and I hope you get well soon.

You looked great Walter. Keep accepting all the love you have in our little group, it really has healing power. Though it can be surprising, it is real. You have my best wishes for your recovery and if you need anything in particular, please ask. I'd be honored to throw in and help.

PS, I can't wait to see @uglyknees on a bike. 😊

I did not know about your health issues. I too am recovering from a truck accident where I totaled my pickup truck a few months ago. I took the time to study up for my Ham Radio license and finally passed my Extra Class license. The morale boost one gets from visiting friends is the best medicine of all.

I did not know you were ill, if I did I would bring you some goodies from the warehouse of wonder. I hear it is the fountain of youth, just look at Art @artg_dms

You looked great Walter.

You should see me now. Got a chance to take a shower, and managed to shave my head, mostly.

We've never met, but I already feel like we might be genetically related, so I hope you get better/back home soon! For the good of the clan.

Hi Walter,
I hope you'll continue to feel better. I am working nights now so I didn't think you needed a visitor at 3am. the rest of my time right now is spent providing care to my 3 elderly relatives. I'm exhausted. Hope we see you soon.

Walter, my very first day as a member you helped me download the hard drive on my crashed laptop. I'll always be grateful for the help and your kindness you gave. I'd like to send you well wishes and get well soon in this time. You will be ok!
